Bail Bond 'Kidnap' Charged

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton Friday demanded the return of a Negro boy allegedly spirited from his Pennsylvania home to Alabama by two Mobile bonding agents.

"The public conscience is shocked by the alleged abduction at gunpoint of Tyrone Collins," Scranton declared in a telegram to Alabama Gov. George Wallace. Collins is now in Mobile County Jail awaiting trial on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

SCRANTON also personally telephoned the boy's mother in Norristown, Pa., to assure her the state would do everything in its power to bring the youth back.

Earlier, State Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandroni ordered a state investigation into the removal of Collins, who celebrates his 19th birthday today.

Referring to allegations by Congressman Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., that Collins was seized by the two bondsmen last Sunday after they entered the Collins home at gunpoint, Scranton declared:

"This was a clear violation of Collins' civil rights and a flagrant invasion of

CHRISTMAS COMES TO TROUBLED WORLD

Joy and Deep Concern Mark Holy Day Around the Globe

By Associated Press

It is a Christmas of paradoxes.

There is the noise of family reunions, of children squealing over gifts, of church bells ringing out from Bethlehem and from the cities and hamlets where Christians mark the birth of their Savior.

And it is a joyous Christmas of temporary silence across the paddies and jungles of Viet Nam, a Christmas that could be marked briefly by the GI's "Merry Christmas" to his partners in war and the murmur of men attacking turkey dinner.

There was much to be thankful for as Americans gathered about their trees to unwrap the tokens of a prosperous year, but there were deep thoughts of concern among families with sons and husbands they feared they might not see again.

Far away, on the cold and barren hills of Korea, U.S.

troops and South Koreans observed Christmas while guarding the demilitarized zone against infiltration from the Communist north.

There were other trouble spots, Indian and Pakistani armies confronted each other across a cease-fire line that has been violated repeatedly by both sides.

But the joy of Christmas broke through on two fronts of conflict — the Holy Land and Berlin.

While Israel and Jordan are technically at war, Jordan opened the Jerusalem gate to about 5,000 Christians from Israel who joined 15,000 pilgrims from around the world in Bethlehem to celebrate the birth of Jesus, the Prince of Peace.

82 Homes Wiped Out by Flood

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) —

Eighty-two families in Arizona were homeless on Christmas Eve, flooded out by rampaging rivers swollen by rains and record snow runoff.

Most of their homes were in communities below the confluence of the San Francisco River and the Gila, running a mile wide through extreme eastern Arizona.

The floodwaters isolated almost the entire population of Kelvin — about 50 families.

The only access road to other eastern Arizona towns was washed out as the river spilled over.

A bridge connecting Kelvin and Riverside Terrace was impassable from Thursday morning until late Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bittick and their five children watched helplessly as water destroyed all their Christmas gifts packed away in

AS WATER poured through their mobile home, a room which had been added on the top was torn away.

In Phoenix, the normally dry Salt River bed was a half-mile wide as it cut through the city.

All but three roads in the state's capital were under some water and closed to traffic. Only one — the Central Avenue Bridge — was regarded as certain to remain open through the night.

Meanwhile, clearing skies and falling temperatures shut off the heavy runoff into streams in central and southern Arizona and officials expressed hope for a dry, cold Christmas.

Cardinal in Rite at Airbase

By HUGH MULLIGAN

SAIGON, Saturday (UPI) —

On a huge military airbase wrapped in the strange and wondrous silence of a Christmas cease-fire, Francis Cardinal Spellman celebrated midnight Mass for 4,000 American servicemen.

The New York archbishop officiated at a small altar set up on a stage made up of three Air Force trailers normally used to transport bombs.

"CHRISTMAS means peace," said the cardinal, delivering his Christmas message in a frail, thin voice.

Since the American troop buildup began last July, Tan Son Nhut Airbase on the outskirts of Saigon has become one of the world's busiest, with hundreds of jets and planes.

M.D. Finds Merry Way to Collect

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — An unidentified Spokane woman Friday paid the postman $7.50 C.O.D. charges for an apparent Christmas gift.

But inside the gaily wrapped package was a $7.50 overdues bill from her family physician.

On the receipt was marked, "Merry Christmas."

Extended Truce Seen Possible

SAIGON, Saturday (UPI) — Top U.S. military officials in Saigon today held out the possibility that the United States was willing to extend the 30-hour Christmas Day truce.

Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Gen. William C. Westmoreland declined to back up earlier official announcements that the war would be resumed promptly when the U.S. and South Vietnamese cease-fire ended at midnight Dec. 25 (8 a.m. PST today).

SAIGON, Saturday (UPI) — Christmas dawned as a day of peace for American troops and their allies in war-torn Viet Nam. A cease-fire that began Christmas Eve brought a temporary halt to the conflict that has ravaged this Southeast Asian nation for years.

A truce ordered by U.S. and Vietnamese forces began at 6 p.m. Friday and was to continue unless a need for self-defense arose — until next midnight.

The Communist Viet Cong earlier had proposed a 12-hour halt to the fighting and it was scheduled to end at 7 a.m.

Each passing hour kept alive hope that the Christmas truce could somehow be extended, but there was no official indication from either side that this would be the case.

Seven mortar rounds were fired Friday night by the Viet Cong near the U.S. Marine Base at Chu Lai, south of Da Nang, but U.S. military spokesmen said that this was not considered a violation of the cease-fire.

Meanwhile, clearing skies and falling temperatures shut off the heavy runoff into streams in central and southern Arizona and officials expressed hope for a dry, cold Christmas.

"IT WAS no more than a matter of poor communications" with men in the field, the spokesmen said.

"They fell well short of the Marine perimeter. There were no casualties and there was no damage."

The Marines, on the alert even with the cease-fire in effect, did not respond to the mortar fire.

No reports of an outbreak of fighting had reached military authorities here by 8 a.m. — one hour after the terms of the truce proposed by the Viet Cong had expired.

The New York archbishop officiated at a small altar set up on a stage made up of three Air Force trailers normally used to transport bombs.

On Christmas Eve, Saigon itself set the mood for the embattled country with a jubilant and carefree air. Its wide tree-lined streets were packed with old and young.

On Christmas morning, a distant bassoon, jungle posts and U.S. 7th Fleet vessels in the South China Sea reflected an easing of tension.

Various detachments called in Vietnamese friends to Christmas dinners, shows and parties.

Though Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, some congressmen and such world figures as Pope Paul VI and U.N. Secretary General U. Thant have expressed hope negotiations might develop, a senior U.S. Army officer said:

"We shall resume normal operations at 2400 hours (midnight) Dec. 25, unless we are forced to do so before that."

A working mother who phoned home to check on four children Friday heard this plaintive cry from her 9-year-old son: "Help me, Mommy! Please help me!"

She raced four miles in her car, and arrived to find the house filled with gas fumes. One child, a girl visitor, was unconscious in an upstairs room. The others were wandering about dazed.

She led and carried them all outside, and administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the unconscious girl while waiting for the ambulance.

"This is the happiest Christmas of my life," said Mrs. Gracie Smith, 42, of Watsonville, Calif. "I was just in the nick of time. If I hadn't called home when I did, I'm sure the kids would have been dead."

Christmas came a day early for Mrs. Smith's son, Steven.

"He's playing with his new bike and seems very bouncy and happy," Mrs. Smith said in a telephone interview. "I think I would have taken the boy if he'd given it to him if he'd asked for it."

The other children were Audrey Smith, 12, and Elva Smith, 11, sisters of her husband, William, and Smith's stepsister, Cathy Koch, 11. All had gathered at the home for a pre-Christmas celebration.

Mrs. Smith and her husband left the children alone when they went to work at a family-owned auto cleaning shop.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS*Dominican Peace Appeal Unheeded

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—A Christmas Eve appeal for political peace in the strife-torn Dominican Republic went unheeded Friday. Two powerful bomb explosions, destroying a cement factory and hardware store, rocked the city.

The bombs went off shortly after Archbishop Octavio A. Beras broadcast a call for peace during the Christmas holidays. The hardware store was demolished. The cement factory was heavily damaged.

There were no casualties in either explosion. For the first time since last Sunday, there were no victims of terrorist attacks Thursday night.

fires caused by the bomb explosions raged unchecked until dawn.

Sporadic gunfire was heard throughout the town both before and after midnight. A U.S. military spokesman said none of the fire was directed at American troops.

Thursday night's explosions and gunfire came in the wake of an official announcement that 34 persons have been slain in politically-oriented disputes in the past five days.

Search for Missing Girl Canceled

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI)—Police and volunteers, having covered 300 square miles in the search for Susan Brady in vain, called off their vigil Christmas Eve and turned to checking out tips from nearby residents.

Officers admitted there was little chance that the 11-year-old Rockford girl, missing since her school was dismissed Monday, was alive.

More than 50 searchers covered two forested areas in the rain Friday, but found no trace of the missing youngster.

"I think most of the searchers realize now that they are looking for a body," Capt. Herbert Brown of the Winnebago County Sheriff's Police said.

There was still hope in the Brady home, a pleasant, red-brick ranch house in the northwest section of the city.

Two of Susan's older brothers, Michael, 16, and Timothy, 14, said they would keep their presents for Susan under the family Christmas tree. They said they wouldn't open their own gifts until she is found.

Mrs. Norma Brady, 35, was reported in bad shape. "She's taking it terribly hard," Capt. Brown, a friend of the family, said.

Red China Official Scores U.N.

TOKYO (UPI)—Red China will never join the United Nations as long as it remains under "U.S. domination," a ranking Communist Chinese official said Friday.

Liao Cheng-chi, a member of the powerful Chinese Communist Party Central Committee, told Japanese correspondents stationed in Peking the world body remained under "U.S. domination" and the Chinese "would not come aboard no matter whether the United Nations sends up 100 planes to welcome us."

Liao's remarks were interpreted to mean the Peking regime would not become a member of the U.N. even if approval of its membership were eventually granted.

3 Trainmen Killed in Freak Wreck

DENTON, Tex. (UPI)—Three trainmen were killed Friday and a fourth was near death from burns suffered in the fiery collision of two freight trains before dawn in a freak accident.

Both trains were headed north from Fort Worth over jointly used track when the leading Texas & Pacific train was unable to get its 129 cars over a hill. It backed up for another try and was hit from the rear by a 92-car Missouri-Kansas-Texas (KATY) freight.

Clayton Overbeck of Denison, Tex., the KATY engineer, was killed instantly. Two men in the caboose of the T&P train, conductor J. G. Barling and rear brakeman K. N. Cunningham, died in the flaming wreckage.

Charles Farrington, 48, a brakeman and conductor on the KATY train, was burned over 100% of his body. Officials at St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas said he was not expected to live.

Old Agreement Goes Into Effect

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet agreement to grant credits to Cuba during 1967 went into effect Friday, almost two years after it was signed, without an explaining of the delay.

The credit agreement was signed in Havana Jan. 11, 1964, to cover the difference between Soviet exports to Cuba and Cuban exports in exchange for the year 1964. Figures were not given in the original report of the signing or now.

He was arrested, convicted of attempting to break into the apartment and served a county jail term.

As a volunteer worker for AA, Wells was acquainted with Mrs. Caylor, according to the secretary. Wells, who made his home in nearby Sherman Oaks, devoted much of his time to assisting the society and persons who sought its help in breaking the drinking habit.

MRS. WATT said the caller asked Wells, "Are you Jess?" and when an affirmative answer was given, the man lifted a rifle and fired. The secretary said Caylor and his former wife, Mrs. Barbara Smith Caylor, had met when they both were attending AA meetings.

Police reported that they had learned from friends of the pair that Caylor had threatened several of Mrs. Caylor's acquaintances after his efforts to effect a reconciliation failed.

Police said that the Caylor's brief marriage ended in an annulment but he persisted in efforts to resume their

In the rest of West Germany, many families placed candles in windows for relatives in East Germany prevented from attending reunions in the West.

There was little rest for the British in Africa, where African nations are pressuring them to use force to end the independence proclaimed by the white rulers of Rhodesia.

British planes were flying oil to Zambia without regard for the holiday. Rhodesia cut off all petroleum exports to Zambia after Britain declared an oil embargo in an attempt to end the Rhodesian rebellion.

On the Mediterranean Island of Cyprus, where rival Greek and Turkish Cypriots twirled nervous trigger fingers, Canadians of the U.N. Peace Force played Santa in Kyrenia. They converted an armed patrol car into Santa's sleigh and took gifts to 31 youngsters at a Red Cross hospital for crippled children.

In the Western Hemisphere, most people in the Dominican Republic are spending Christmas Day indoors. The motive is fear. Rebel partisans and the military in the past week have been shooting it out.

Like most Americans, President Johnson is spending Christmas Day with his family. He was back home at his ranch on the bank of the Pedernales River in Texas.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara thanked Americans for donating 470 tons of gifts to U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam. These gifts were in addition to those the soldiers received from relatives and friends.

But the soldiers in Viet Nam were giving as well as receiving. Throughout South Viet Nam, U.S. servicemen gave Christmas parties for Vietnamese children.

The Soviet news agency Tass professed to find "an air of despondency in the United States." In a dispatch to Moscow, the Tass correspondent in Washington asserted: "Neither sparkling Christmas trees nor the decorated streets can distract Americans from gloomy thoughts provoked by the Pentagon's daily communiques on the progress of the Viet Nam war and newspaper reports of overcrowded hospitals in the Vietnamese jungles."

In Vatican City, Pope Paul VI prepared to say a Christmas-morning Mass at Santa Felicita Church in a suburb of Rome, then celebrate a second Mass in St. Peter's Square.

It was a day of frustration for many Italians and other foreign workers employed in West Germany. Of the million foreign workers, West Germany railroad authorities said, thousands were unable to spend Christmas vacations at home because trains were lacking to carry them all. All outbound trains from West Germany were crowded Friday with foreign workers heading home, laden with gifts.

Missing Boy Hiker Found Fall Victim

ALTADENA (UPI)—A night-long search for a missing 15-year-old San Marino boy ended Friday when his body was found in the mountains above here.

Thirty-five men, a helicopter and bloodhounds conducted the search for Glen Lewis of San Marino before they discovered his body shortly after noon on a firebreak near Echo Mountain.

Searchers said the youth apparently fell from a cliff shortly after noon on a firebreak.

The youth's parents said he left home between 6 and 7 a.m. Thursday and that he had hiked in the area before.

'The Kid' Has Gay Fete for 100 Kids

Tod Cornelius Faulkner of Signal Hill turned 65 on Thanksgiving Day, is a happy man.

He made his money when the going was good as a prize-fighter, promoter, bingo baron and 10 years later he bade goodby to the ring, in 1948, he was ordained a minister.

Today's Rev. Tod Cornelius Faulkner was better known to the older generation as Kid Mexico, the California champion.

The younger generation of Signal Hill, where the old-time fighter lives at 2332 Cerritos Ave., "dedicated to speak His Word," knows him as the Santa Claus without the red robe or the long white beard.

KID MEXICO, who had journeyed long and hard, without any regrets, is no longer a kid. The rough life he had lived both in the ring and out had left him little shaken, a little wobbling in his gait and speech. The punches he had taken had had their impact. But he obviously enjoys the company of kids, their clatter, their laughter, their joy and happiness, things in fact which he missed as a young kid himself in a poor ranch 29 miles from the Bottomless Lakes, New Mexico.

Today he is a happier man. For almost 15 years he had "thrown" Christmas parties for the kids of Signal Hill, and his only regret is that he missed the party last year "because I was ill."

"Kid Mexico" gave freely giving, and the Kid Friday gave almost a thousand presents.

TO ME, as a visiting journalist, it was an exciting two hours. The Kid even asked me to draw the numbers to give away the prizes, which did with great joy and satisfaction. For I am one of those who help in making others happy, share the spiritual reward.

As I left the sun-drenched hill, the party was in full swing, the kids jumping and shouting in ecstasy. Winning many of the prizes the Kid had to offer them once a year.

The Kid, who lives in his house filled with photos and legends, reminding him constantly of the more glamorous, more enchanting past he had gone through, was the happiest in the gathering.

IT WAS ALL a gamble. Every boy and girl present drew a number. As it happened, a boy got a girl's bicycle and a girl, a boy's cycle. But it was all part of the rules of the game, and the Rev. Despite all the manifest disarray, the kids were happy and so was the Kid. And that was the important fact to remember. There is joy in the ring a few minutes before the bell.

The show closed with Miss Bryant leading the audience in "Silent Night," just as the last flight of bombers headed home from the final air strike before the 30-hour Christmas truce proclaimed by the Vietnamese and U.S. commanders.

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (UPI)—Some 3,500 pounds of toys, candy, clothing and fruit was parachuted Friday to Havasupai Indians living in the Grand Canyon.

Taking the place of Santa's sleigh was Intermountain Aviation of Marana, Ariz. They supplied a C46 transport plane and it was loaded with goodies at Sky Harbor Airport in Phoenix.

Spearheading the drive to bring Christmas cheer to the isolated Havasupai Indians was Mrs. Sophie Burden of Remuda Ranch in Wickenburg. Several hundred pounds of clothing was donated by a second-hand store in Phoenix. Food and more clothing were donated by San Francisco restaurant owners.

Intermountain employees donated 250 pounds of candy to complete 13 parachute loads.

'SANTA CLAUS' OF SIGNAL HILL

Former prizefighter Tod "Kid Mexico" Faulkner distributes gifts and good cheer Friday at annual Christmas party he hosts for children of Signal Hill. Faulkner, now a minister, gave more than 1,000 presents. Children drew tickets for prizes and if a boy won a doll like the Kid is holding, he was welcome to trade it to a girl for her space gun.

KID MEXICO, who had journeyed long and hard, without any regrets, is no longer a kid. The rough life he had lived both in the ring and out had left him a little shaken, a little wobbling in his gait and speech. The punches he had taken had had their impact. But he obviously enjoys the company of kids, their clatter, their laughter, their joy and happiness, things in fact which he missed as a young kid himself in a poor ranch 29 miles from the Bottomless Lakes, New Mexico.

Today he is a happier man. For almost 15 years he had "thrown" Christmas parties for the kids of Signal Hill, and his only regret is that he missed the party last year "because I was ill."

OVER A hundred children of Signal Hill were in front

"Kid Mexico" gave freely and generously the gifts he had piled up in great disarray in his rooms, but again, ironically it was evident that the man who had spent many years in smoke-filled, stuffy, poorly lit, noisy bingo joints could not swing himself away from that most exciting pastime, gambling.

IT WAS ALL a gamble. Every boy and girl present drew a number. As it happened, a boy got a girl's bicycle and a girl, a boy's cycle. But it was all part of the rules of the game, and the Rev. Mr. Faulkner made it clear to the hopping, excited kids, that they could trade in the cycles if they so desired.

Despite all the manifest disarray, the kids were happy and so was the Kid. And that was the important fact before the bell!

All the rooms in the house were littered with hundreds of toys from bicycles to glass marbles, toys of all descriptions and sizes. And the irony of it was that the disorder, the excitement and the general atmosphere were such as to remind an old prizefighter of the ring a few minutes before the bell.

The Kid, who lives in his house filled with photos and legends, reminding him constantly of the more glamorous, more enchanting past he had gone through, was the happiest in the gathering.

She sang and danced the Watusi and frug in black tights to the cheers and catcalls of the GIs.

Anita Bryant, a veteran of six Hope Christmas shows, stepped into the rows of GIs during one singing number and picked out a private for a kiss on the cheek.

The soldier turned to his buddies shouting, "Is it still there? Is it still there?" The lipstick left no doubt that it was.

Hope made a breezy reference to the terrorist incident that greeted his troupe in Saigon last Christmas Eve.

"SAIGON is really a very friendly city," Hope said. "Last time I was here a hotel came out to meet me. This time the security is the tightest I've ever seen. Did you ever try to shave with two faces in the mirror? They call this Paris of the East, but most of the sidewalk cafes here didn't start off on the sidewalk."

The show closed with Miss Bryant leading the audience in "Silent Night," just as the last flight of bombers headed home from the final air strike before the 30-hour Christmas truce proclaimed by the Vietnamese and U.S. commanders.

"You've seen some of these demonstrators. Aren't you glad they aren't on our side?"

A THUNDERING "Yes" came back from the audience. "One thing is good," Hope said. "They're sending their blood to the Viet Cong instead of us."

"You know, they have a new draft classification for the demonstrators—SE. In case of invasion, they stay behind and pile sandbags around the statue of Benedict Arnold."

Hope and a bevy of beauties arrived from Bangkok on a military Air Transport Service plane for a series of shows Friday, Christmas Day and the day after.

Twirling a golf club for "protection from both sides," Hope quipped: "Well, here we are in Saigon—that's Vietnamese for I must be nuts."

"Please, not too much applause. They might hold me over."

The troops roared.

But Joey Heatherton, a curvaceous 21-year-old blonde actress, almost stole the show.

Now the screen blazes with the story based on the blistering best-seller!

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — where he taped 300-400 interviews with front-line American troops. O'Brian said the tapes would be sent to the families of the men interviewed.

The actor said he found the morale of the fighting men very high.

Regarding the demonstrations against the U.S. policy in Viet Nam, O'Brian said most of the men he talked to indicated they accepted them as the American way of expressing freedom of speech.

O'Brian suggested that every city and town in this country "adopt" a town or village in Viet Nam and send food, soap, clothing or tools as a means of winning over the people.

NOW I UNDERSTAND, HE WHISPERED . . .

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Once upon a time, there was a man who looked up on Christmas as a lot of bumbo.

"He wasn't a Scrooge; He was a kind and decent person, generous to his family, upright in all his dealings with other men."

But he didn't believe all that stuff about incarnation which churches proclaim at Christmas. And he was too honest to pretend that he did.

"I am truly sorry to distress you," he told his wife, who was a faithful churchgoer. "But I simply cannot understand this claim that God became a mere man. It doesn't make any sense to me!"

A few minutes later, he was startled by a thudding sound. It was quickly followed by another, then another. He thought that someone must be throwing snowballs at his living-room window.

WHEN HE went to the front door to investigate, he found a flock of birds huddled miserably in the snow. They had been caught in the storm, and in a desperate search for shelter had tried to fly through his window.

"If we must have Christmas," he thought, "it's nice to have a white one."

He went back to his chair by the fireside and began to read his newspaper.

After a few minutes, he was startled by a thudding sound. It was quickly followed by another, then another. He thought that someone must be throwing snowballs at his living-room window.

He put on his coat and galoshes and tramped through the deepening snow to the barn. He opened the doors wide and turned on a light.

But the birds didn't come in.

"Food will bring them in," he thought. So he hurried back to the house for bread crumbs, which he sprinkled on the snow to make a trail into the barn.

To his dismay, the birds ignored the bread crumbs and continued to flop helplessly in the snow.

HE TRIED shooting them into the barn by walking around and waving his arms. They scattered in every direction — except into the warm, lighted barn.

"They find me a strange and terrifying creature," he said to himself; "and I can't seem to think of any way to let them know they can trust me."

"It only I could be a bird myself for a few minutes, perhaps I could lead them to safety."

Just at that moment, the church bells began to ring.

He stood silently for a while, listening to the bells pealing the glad tidings of Christmas.

Then he sank to his knees in the snow.

"Now I do understand," he whispered. "Now I see why you had to do it."

Lynwood Nativity Pageant

Sound! Lights! Action! With these words of instruction the 14th annual presentation of

"The Bethlehem Story," outdoor Pageant of the Nativity, will come to life tonight on the corner of Bullis Road and Fernwood Avenue, Lynwood.

Against a background of authentic Old World scenery, scores of men, women and children in colorful costumes will re-enact the exciting events leading up to the first Christmas.

Originated by members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Lynwood, and presented as a community service, no professionals are ever used in the production. Every phase from beginning to end, scenery, construction, direction,

voices, wardrobe, etc., is han-

NOW I UNDERSTAND, HE WHISPERED . . .

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Once upon a time, there was a man who looked upon Christmas as a lot of humbug.

He wasn't a Scrooge. He was a kind and decent person, generous to his family, upright in all his dealings with other men.

But he didn't believe all that stuff about incarnation which churches proclaim at Christmas. And he was too honest to pretend that he did.

"I am truly sorry to distress you," he told his wife, who was a faithful churchgoer. "But I simply cannot understand this claim that God became a man. It doesn't make any sense to me."

ON CHRISTMAS Eve, his wife and children went to church for the midnight service. He declined to accompany them.

"I'd feel like a hypocrite," he explained. "I'd much rather stay at home. But I'll wait up for you."

Shortly after his family drove away in the car, snow began to fall. He went to the window and watched the flurries getting heavier and heavier.

"If we must have Christmas," he thought, "it's nice to have a white one."

He went back to his chair by the fireside and began to read his newspaper.

A few minutes later, he was startled by a thudding sound. It was quickly followed by another, then another. He thought that someone must be throwing snowballs at his living-room window.

WHEN HE went to the front door to investigate, he found a flock of birds huddled miserably in the snow. They had been caught in the storm, and in a desperate search for shelter had tried to fly through his window.

"I can't let these poor creatures lie there and freeze," he thought. "But how can I help them?"

Then he remembered the barn where the children's pony was stabled. It would provide a warm shelter.

He put on his coat and galoshes and tramped through the deepening snow to the barn. He opened the doors wide and turned on a light.

But the birds didn't come in.

"Food will bring them in," he thought. So he hurried back to the house for bread crumbs, which he sprinkled on the snow to make a trail into the barn.

To his dismay, the birds ignored the bread crumbs and continued to flop around helplessly in the snow.

HE TRIED shoing them into the barn by walking around and waving his arms. They scattered in every direction — except into the warm, lighted barn.

"They find me a strange and terrifying creature," he said to himself, "and I can't seem to think of any way to let them know they can trust me."

"If only I could be a bird myself for a few minutes, perhaps I could lead them to safety—"

Just at that moment, the church bells began to ring.

He stood silently for a while, listening to the bells pealing the glad tidings of Christmas.

Then he sank to his knees in the snow.

"Now I do understand," he whispered. "Now I see why you had to do it."

"BE STILL AND KNOW THAT GOD IS GOD . . ."

Lynwood Nativity Pageant

Sound! Lights! Action! With these words of instruction the 14th annual presentation of "The Bethlehem Story," outdoor Pageant of the Nativity, will come to life tonight on the corner of Bullis Road and Fernwood Avenue, Lynwood.

Against a background of authentic Old World scenery, scores of men, women and children in colorful costumes will re-enact the exciting events leading up to the first Christmas.

Originated by members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church,

Lynwood, and presented as a community service, no professionals are ever used in the production. Every phase from beginning to end, scenery, construction, direction,

voices, wardrobe, etc., is han-

gered by members of the congregation. Over the years it has grown to be one of the holiday attractions in the Southeast area. Groups have come by the busload, many they will live and serve as auxiliary teaching credential. Their studies in linguistics were completed at the University of Oklahoma, followed by a valuable pioneer training period in the jungles of southern Mexico. They will be serving under Wycliffe Bible translators.

Jordan will be the guest speaker at 7 p.m. Sunday, at First Baptist Church of Lakewood, 5336 Arbor Road. A farewell reception will be held in the social hall following the service.

Wednesday is scheduled as the departure date for Larry and Lindy Jordan and their nine-month-old daughter,

Their destination—one of the Indian tribes of Mexico, where people will have had a mean-

In preparation for this un-attained degrees from both college and seminary, while

Linda has earned an elemen-

CONFIDENT LIVING

Get Enthusiastic About Life, Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I had an inspiring experience in a United States Armed Forces chapel in Germany. It was Sunday in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, a city picturesquely surrounded by the snow-capped Bavarian Alps.

The congregation consisted mainly of enlisted men, their wives and children, and a number of high-ranking officers. The preacher that Sunday was an Army chaplain, a lanky, genial Texan with an unmistakable drawl of the Texas plains. His preaching was sincere, simple, and direct, phrased in the vernacular without verbiage or quotations and show-off words. He reached everybody present, including me.

"Folks," he began in an easy-going style, "I have quite a subject. I'm going to talk about your life, not just life, but the life you and I are living." And he continued with some down-to-earth observations.

"Some people have a hard time with life. They don't know how to handle it. They make a mess of things. It's just too much for them, and so they fold. Too bad."

"Then there are people who, not knowing how to handle life, get scared of their own inability and only hope, somehow, to ride it out. They try ineffectually to take things as they come. But life hits a lot of blows, and they are pushovers for every trouble that comes along."

"OTHERS," he continued, "get real mixed up, take wrong roads and wind up in dead ends. They get themselves badly hurt and so finally they turn sour and cynical and end up griping. It's a lousy world."

"But there are also those who see life straight and hit it hard. They see that life is good in spite of its problems, and they get going and live up to the good in it. They are the smart people, who really know the score; and the payoff is, they become enthusiastic about life." The chaplain quoted this text from the Bible: "He that would love life and see good days, let him keep his tongue from evil, and his lips from speaking guile; let him turn away from evil and do right; let him seek peace and pursue it."

Those words, are, for sure, basic rules for anybody who really wants to feel enthusiastic about life. Let dishonesty, immorality or hostility creeps into your living and it won't be long until your sense of life's basic goodness will deteriorate and the joy of life along with it.

In addition to fundamental right living, there are certain other things you can do to stimulate your enthusiasm about life. One is to do a little more communing with the wonder and beauty of the world we live in. What a stupendous framework God provides as a setting for a man's life! The endless galaxies of innumerable stars; the tempestuous, enormous oceans; great sighing, surging winds; rolling, reverberating thunder; dashing rain; the drama, mystery and exquisiteness of the recurring seasons; these are wonders round about us all our lives for us to get thrilled about, so that we become excited and enthusiastic about life.

MODERN men huddle together like herded buffalo and build themselves monstrous cities. But the cities cannot quite blot out the beauty of the world. You can find beauty in the little winding streets of London and Vienna; in the glittering glory of San Francisco on its hills above the Golden Gate; along the thrbbing avenues of Chicago and New York. By letting mind and heart commune daily with the splendor and charm everywhere around us we can become more sensitive, more vital, more vibrantly alive.

Another great enthusiasm builder is to tackle hard jobs and tough problems, everything you've got. Instead of resenting or deplored difficulties, take them as exciting challenges. Look upon them as opportunities to exercise your mental, physical and spiritual muscles. The individual who does some real battling and overcoming of difficulties becomes a truly great person who knows one of the deepest joys of life.

We have a tendency to greatly underestimate ourselves and each other. There is actual greatness latent in each of us. Nothing makes for stronger, more enthusiastic love of life than to motivate this latent greatness and release it into action.

The army chaplain was talking sense, for right living, a sense of wonder and a real lacking of problems will make you enthusiastic about life all your life.

"Some people have a hard time with life. They don't know how to handle it. They make a mess of things. It's just too much for them, and so they fold. Too bad."

"Then there are people who, not knowing how to handle life, get scared of their own inability and only hope, somehow, to ride it out. They try ineffectually to take things as they come. But life hits a lot of blows and they are pushovers for every trouble that comes along."

"OTHERS," he continued, "get real mixed up, take wrong roads and wind up in dead ends. They get themselves badly hurt and so finally they turn sour and cynical and end up griping, 'It's a lousy world.'

"But there are also those who see life straight and hit it hard. They see that life is good in spite of its problems, and they get going and live up to the good in it. They are the smart people who really know the score; and the payoff is, they become enthusiastic about life." The chaplain quoted this text from the Bible: "He that would love life and see good days, let him keep his tongue from evil, and his lips from speaking guile; let him turn away from evil and do right; let him seek peace and pursue it."

These words are, for sure, basic rules for anybody who really wants to feel enthusiastic about life. Let dishonesty, immorality or hostility creep into your living and it won't be long until your sense of life's basic goodness will deteriorate and the joy of life along with it.

MISSION BOUND

Farewell testimonial will be held Sunday, 4:30 p.m., at Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 1500 Pine Ave., for David Michel Rogers, 19, who is leaving for 2½ years at the Mexican Mission. A Poly High graduate, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. William Rogers Jr., of 2377 Delta Ave. Members and friends are invited to testimonial.

Korea Said Top Country for Mission Results

Korea stands out as the most successful foreign missionary field for Christianity, says Dr. H. P. Dunlop, a Presbyterian evangelist, of 1030 E. Ocean Blvd., just back from an extensive tour of Asia.

In South Korea, he says, 20% of the people are now active Christians, many attending church each morning at 5 a.m. before going to work. The city of Seoul, he says, has more Presbyterian churches per population than any city in the world. The church's American Hospital in Taegu treats 1,000 patients a day, and has been instrumental in the organizing of 130 churches.

Dr. Dunlop points out that the strongly anti-Communist South Koreans have sent soldiers to fight alongside the Americans in Viet Nam.

Historic Merger in a Small Town

For the first time in the history of the Protestant Church in America, four churches of different denominations have relinquished their separate identities and successfully merged to form a new church.

An article in Redbook magazine reported the details of the historic merger of four "dying" churches in Schellsburg, Pennsylvania, to create the United Church of Schellsburg which now exists as a model for other "over-churched" communities.

The successful merger took place one year ago, through the combined efforts of the Rev. Daniel G. Kratz and a "hard core of churchgoers."

"Schellsburg was not unique," the report stated. "The National Council of Churches estimates that about one out of three Americans lives in an 'overchurched' area where dwindling and stagnating congregations cannot provide an effective ministry. The overchurching of small towns and rural areas across the country, where ever-smaller populations are trying to support many different churches, is a problem of grave concern to leading Protestant clergy of all denominations."

BUT "TOO often members of these small churches would rather see them die out than merge with others," according to Dr. P. U. Deitz, general secretary of home missions of the United Church of Christ, who referred to the problem as "widespread and persistent heritage of loyalty to little white steeples and burying grounds."

Schellsburg's four churches were St. Michael's Lutheran, Schellsburg Methodist, Schellsburg Presbyterian and St. John's Reformed (United Church of Christ). With a total town population of 288, membership on the official rosters of the four churches ranged from 55 for the Presbyterians to 82 for the Reformed.

"Often there would be only four or six persons at a Sunday morning service," William Weaver, one of the town's barbers recalled. "It was pitiful. Can you imagine trying to sing a hymn with only a few voices raised along with yours?"

2: It is everlasting, reminding us of everlasting life.

3: It gives forth light. Jesus said, "I am the light of the world."

4: It satisfies and cheers. There is a satisfaction and cheer about the Christmas tree that is not experienced elsewhere.

5: It was cut down for us. Christ, at 33 years of age, was cut off from the forest of mankind.

Thus, like Christ, the Christmas tree points up, assures us of everlasting life in Christ, gives light, satisfies and cheers, and adorns our home because it was cut down for us.

The mute witness from the forest says, "Unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."

You are invited to worship

Him at Calvary. Calvary is for you.

"Because the active congregations were so small, none could support a full-time pastor," the magazine reported. "With limited financial and human resources and virtually no pastoral or lay leadership, the four churches were churches in name only." But when the concept of a merger was suggested by regional executives of the four denominations, the proposal met with violent opposition.

"Some criticized their leaders for being willing to 'sell us down the river.' One man denounced the idea as a Communist plot. Others thought it was sacrilegious.

Rev. Kratz was sent to Schellsburg from Hecktown, Pa., by the United Church of Christ to serve all the congregations for two years and try to unify them. "With my background in the theology of all four denominations and a strong belief in church union," he recalled, "the idea was definitely intriguing."

HE discovered that "most of those who opposed the merger actively were people who opposed change of any kind or who in recent years had seldom bothered to attend church at all," the article reported.

"I could never figure out," said Kratz, "what difference it made to those people which church they stayed away from!"

"Sentiment for the merger centered in a group of people who were willing to stand up and work for what they believed," according to Rev. Kratz, "but something has to die before something can be born."

When the proposal came to a vote, the results were: Schellsburg Methodist: 23 for, 2 against; St. John's Reformed: 53 for, 5 against; St. Matthew's Lutheran: 11 for, 5 against; Schellsburg Presbyterian: 14 for, 13 against.

Officials of the four dissolving denominations hailed the existence of the new church as "the death, rebirth and redemption of the Christian Ministry" in the town.

A year after the merger became fact, there are more

Chanukah's Traditions Explained

Dear Editor:
An article which appeared last week referring to the observance of Chanukah by Jews in America and its relationship to the Christian observance of Christmas was riddled with inaccuracies and created a false concept of the meaning and customs of Chanukah.

Chanukah celebrates the spiritual Fourth of July, commemorating the fight for religious freedom by a small group of Jews against the tyrannies of Antiochus Epiphanes, ruler of Syria and conqueror of Palestine.

It recalls the courageous actions of the few against a mighty army and their victory. Secondly, Chanukah commemorates the rededication to kindling the light of spiritual freedom and personal commitment.

The essential observance in the home throughout the ages is the lighting of the Menorah (eight-branched candelabra) each night of Chanukah. This is accompanied by blessings, songs, stories, games, and gifts.

The involvement of children in colorful traditions has always been a part of Jewish holiday observances and is no exception. For many, many generations the game of "s'vivon" (spinning the top with significant Hebrew letters) is played. When our great-grandparents were children in the European community, they were given nuts and coins as gifts; Jewish children in America get these or gifts and books.

Contrary to the assertion in last week's article Israelis are just as enthusiastic in gift-giving as are Jewish families in America. The idea of giving children surprises and treats on Jewish holidays is an old, old custom and it is a well-known aspect of the Passover, Purim, and Simchas Torah celebrations. The Christmas atmosphere may have increased the amount and costs of gift-giving during Chanukah, but that is all.

The Chanukah lights which have been burning in Jewish homes for two thousand years do, in fact, have a most significant point of contact with the lights of the Christmas tree. Had Antiochus been successful in destroying the Jews 168 years before the birth of Jesus there would have been no Christmas. The spiritual message of each rests on the victory of Chanukah.

Chanukah's Traditions Explained

Dear Editor:
An article which appeared last week referring to the observance of Chanukah by Jews in America and its relationship to the Christian observance of Christmas was riddled with inaccuracies and created a false concept of the meaning and customs of Chanukah.

Chanukah celebrates the spiritual Fourth of July, commemorating the fight for religious freedom by a small group of Jews against the tyrannies of Antiochus Epiphanes, ruler of Syria and conqueror of Palestine.

It recalls the courageous actions of the few against a mighty army and their victory. Secondly, Chanukah commemorates the rededication to kindling the light of spiritual freedom and personal commitment.

The essential observance in the home throughout the ages is the lighting of the Menorah (eight-branched candelabra) each night of Chanukah. This is accompanied by blessings, songs, stories, games, and gifts.

The involvement of children in colorful traditions has always been a part of Jewish holiday observances and

ADVENTISTS SET POLICY ON RACE

The executive committee of Seventh-day Adventists in Western America, meeting at Western church headquarters in Glendale, has adopted a major policy on race relations.

In its quarterly session just concluded the high-level group, which sets religious policy for some 425 churches in California, Arizona, Utah, Nevada and Hawaii, voted a six-point program for improving race relations harmony within the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Reinhold R. Bietz, Glendale, president of the Adventists' Pacific Union Conference, said the policy calls for "more intricate attention to the ongoing program of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in achieving the best possible relationship between members of different races."

IN PART the policy calls for more "human relations" meetings which will discuss race relations problems to be held at regional and state levels of the church. The policy also calls for:

"The encouragement of an exchange of pulpits between Negro and Caucasian Seventh-day Adventist churches."

"The notation of incidents that promote good relationships between the races and the study of others that have been or could be prejudicial to good relationships."

"Dialogues on race relationships at workers' (ministers) meetings, church officers' meetings, college faculties and other appropriate gatherings."

The policy additionally calls for institutional and church organizations of the denomination to "not only open their doors for the employment of qualified personnel of any race or nationality," but also to provide on-the-job training and guidance toward the employment of such persons.

Pope Gives Latitude on Indulgences

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI has authorized bishops to expand at their discretion the number of churches where Roman Catholics may receive a plenary indulgence during the coming church jubilee.

A decree issued in the Pope's name authorized bishops to appoint, if they choose, one or more churches in their dioceses, in addition to the cathedral, as pilgrimage sites where indulgences can be gained during the jubilee, or "Little Holy Year."

The special jubilee was called by the Pope from Jan. 1 to May 29, 1966, to mark the successful outcome of the Ecumenical Council.

In an Apostolic Constitution Dec. 6, the Pope granted plenary indulgences—remission of temporal punishment on earth or in purgatory for penitent sinners—to whom ever attends instruction period on council decrees at the cathedral of his diocese or makes pilgrimage to Rome. Bishops in Latin America and Africa, where some dioceses are large and thinly populated and communications are poor, were expected to make wide use of the powers granted by the Pope to make it easier to earn the indulgences.

Open Ram Nominations With McKay

Sports

INDEPENDENT-Press-Telegram

A-8—INDEPENDENT-PRESS-TELEGRAM

Long Beach 12, Calif., Saturday, Dec. 25, 1965.

By AL LARSON

Nominations are now open for the job of Rams football coach.

If the public had its choice, excluding loyal USC alumnus John McKay would head Dan Reeves' list of candidates.

An unknown coach six years ago, McKay ranks as one of the country's prime tacticians of offensive football. In a half dozen seasons, the Trojans have stacked up 40 victories against 19 defeats and two ties. One of the wins was registered against Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl.

The former U. of Oregon grid star and assistant coach has introduced such innovations as the shifting-T offense in guiding the Trojans back to a place of dominance on the West Coast.

Although McKay was a regular press box visitor at Ram home games this year, he never was contacted by Reeves during the season. That situation may change next week.

Mckay, contacted at USC, said the firing came as a surprise. He added:

"You don't think about the next man's job. But you never know in this business."

"I have not been contacted by the Rams and have had no conversation with Reeves, other than to say 'hello' and exchange a few words on immaterial matters."

Would McKay be interested in the Ram job?

"If the Rams want to talk to me, I would certainly talk to them. I'd have to talk to a number of people and get their ideas. I would have to bring it up with the university."

Ara Parseghian, of Notre Dame, undoubtedly would follow McKay on the nominating list. But it's difficult to see Parseghian leaving South Bend. He's king of the territory and has a number of side interests which reap healthy dividends.

If Joe Fan was to tap the pro ranks, he'd probably center a campaign around George Wilson or Buddy Parker.

Wilson, the former Detroit Lions coach who succeeded Parker, now is an assistant with the Washington Redskins. Parker won three championships at Detroit in six seasons, then experienced instant failure at Pittsburgh. But then who hasn't with the Steelers?

Others drawing nominating support would be Jack Faulkner, defensive back-field coach of the Minnesota Vikings, and George

MATTE CLAIMS COLTS RELAXED

'Pressure on Packers'

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A relaxed and confident Baltimore Colts made final preparations Friday for their flight to Green Bay and Sunday's game with the Packers that will decide the Western Division title in the National Football League.

Jim Parker, a 270-pounder in there, I think that pressure is on Green Bay."

Matte was pleased with his new found abilities as he consistently pinpointed his passes in the drills at Memorial Stadium.

"My timing is a lot better,"

Green Bay at Full Strength; Frozen Field for Playoff

GREEN BAY (AP) — A relaxed, almost jovial, Coach Vince Lombardi put his Green Bay Packers through their final paces Friday and said the team will be at full strength for Sunday's National Football League Western Conference playoff game against the Baltimore Colts.

"At least I'm going to start the game that way," said Lombardi after announcing that middle linebacker Ray Nitschke will be fit for action against the Colts.

Nitschke, slowed by a pulled hamstring, had been the Packers' only doubtful starter. "I'll be ready," said Nitschke. "We're all going to be ready."

Lombardi said he would start a veteran line-up that will include Bill Anderson in place of Marv Fleming at tight end. That position has

Nitschke worked out with the starting defensive unit as the Packers sloshed through drills in a snowstorm that made a whitish bog of their practice field.

The weather is expected to be cloudy Sunday with temperatures near freezing. No precipitation has been predicted.

The game will be played at Lambeau Field, where the turf has been protected under a layer of tarpaulin covered straw. The turf will not be exposed until about six hours before kickoff.

Lombardi said he would start a veteran line-up that will include Bill Anderson in place of Marv Fleming at tight end. That position has been a trouble spot for Green

Bay since the departure of Ron Kramer to Detroit at the beginning of this season.

Anderson, acquired from the Washington Redskins, started for the first time last Sunday in the Packers' 24-24 tie with San Francisco.

The Packers will meet briefly Saturday for loosening up exercises, but no formal drills are planned.

All 40 Packers were assured of Christmas festivities since the married players invited the unmarried to their homes. Married players living here only during the season had their families come for the holiday.

Colts' president Carroll Rosenbaum treats his coaches and players to a Christmas party Saturday night here.

MATTE talked of the confidence on the veteran Colt team and the increased emphasis of the running game which proved successful against the Rams.

The rushing game will probably predominate in the Colt attack, since the Packers finished next to last in rushing defense this year. The expected frozen turf in Green Bay will also make it difficult for pass receivers to turn sharply.

THIS GAME was the Colts' Christmas present from the San Francisco 49ers who tied the Packers last Sunday. The loser on Sunday is still a gatherer. The victimized team will travel to Miami to meet the Dallas Cowboys on January 9 in the NFL Runner-Up Bowl.

"It would be the cruelest blow of the year if we lose after coming all this way," said halfback Alex Hawkins. "We came through when things looked darkest and now we've got to do the big job."

The "big job" starts at 11 a.m. over nation-wide television.

Pulls Application

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Erskine Russell, assistant football coach at the University of Georgia, said today he has asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration for the head coaching job at The Citadel.

CHRISTMAS SPECIAL, PLAY LAKERS TONIGHT

Pistons Irked by Schedule

By DOUG IVES

If you are tired of wrestling with the kids and ripping the wrappings off Christmas gifts, the Lakers would like to invite you out to a basketball game tonight.

As improbable as it seems, the NBA saw fit to schedule a game in the L.A. Sports Arena this evening between the Lakers and Detroit Pistons, who aren't exactly thrilled about being 2,000 miles from home on Christmas Day.

Some suggested that the way the Pistons are playing, they should have conceded all day and will want to get out for awhile," said a Laker spokesman.

Coach Fred Schaus hopes you had your surprises in the morning, because he has none on tap for tonight. Elgin Baylor will take another step on the rehabilitation trail, but that comes as no upset since he played briefly on Thursday.

The answer is the turnstiles count, and the Lakers expect 10,000 to be on hand for the 7:05 tipoff. "People will be tired of staying in the house trade for Rod Thorn. Also, the Pistons farmed out Bill Cunningham, their No. 1 draft pick from Michigan.

Player-coach Dave DeBusschere, when announcing the trade, said "we had to do something; we can't keep going the way we are now." The Pistons' record is 9-22.

Vaughn is a hard-nosed type of player who should bolster our defense," the coach continued, "and Tresvant will give us back-up help on Wednesday and finally to Joe Strawder. As for Cunningham, he's been out of shape all this year, so maybe now this will shape him up."

The Lakers remain in a dog-fight with Baltimore for the Western Division lead. The onrushing Bullets are only 1½ games behind after trailing by six one month ago.

Tonight concludes a six-game home stand for the Lakers, who fly to Memphis Sunday for a match with St. Louis on Monday. Then they meet the Hawks in St. Louis on Tuesday, go to Cincinnati on Wednesday, and finally to Ft. Wayne to face the Pistons on Thursday.

SANTA LATEST OBSTACLE

MSU Eyes Distractions

It was Christmas party time on the Rose Bowl front Friday for Michigan State and host UCLA, but the hard knocks continued on the practice field . . . and they'll get harder next week.

Jovial Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State's coach, summed it up for himself and his opposite number, the Bruins' Tommy Prothro, when he said:

"After Christmas, we want perfect concentration for the game coming up."

Thus far neither team has gone all out in scrimmage. The lone casualty was a shoulder strain by third string quarterback John Mullen of the Big Ten representative.

As for UCLA, Prothro put it this way:

"Nothing serious has happened. One boy has a boil, another a touch of the flu and another got his feelings hurt."

Both squads were tendered

Christmas parties Friday night, UCLA at the Student Union Building on its Westwood campus, the Spartans at their hotel in Pasadena.

The rival coaches debated the advantages of a home team on the visitors.

Daugherty contended

UCLA is not faced with such pleasant distractions as a day at Disneyland — "They've all been there" — and added that

Prothro can call on a small army of freshmen and red shirt football players to help out in practice.

Not so with the Spartans, he said. He has a squad of 44, the limit which the Big Ten sets for its travel budget.

Prothro, adept as a lawyer in such arguments, commented:

* * *

"I'll admit the reserves may benefit from the experience — which will help them next year."

Prothro said he'll probably suit up 46 players for the game.

"We've worked hard and the boys are in good shape,"

Prothro continued. "We're keeping the workouts shorter than during the regular season because they've been at it more than three months."

Prothro sent his team home for Christmas Friday after putting them through a brisk Christmas eve workout.

"Beban (quarterback Gary) was throwing sharper today than he has for quite a while," Prothro said after the drill. "I was also pleased by the play of our linebackers, who were roaming very well against passes."

"We sure can handle our frosh," Prothro quipped after the workout. "Too bad we're not playing them New Year's Day."

MATTE CLAIMS COLTS RELAXED

'Pressure on Packers'

BALTIMORE (UPI)—A relaxed and confident Baltimore Colts made final preparations Friday for their flight to Green Bay and Sunday's game with the Packers that will decide the Western Division title in the National Football League.

Jim Parker, a 270-pound tackle, shadow-boxed with a reluctant halfback, while their teammates on the field continued a steady chatter.

Tom Matte, a pro quarterback of two weeks, said the Colts "were more relaxed than at any time since I've been in there. I think that the pressure is on Green Bay."

Matte was pleased with his new found abilities as he consistently pinpointed his passes in the drills at Memorial Stadium.

"My timing is a lot better,"

Matte explained. "And my arm is stronger. Last week, my arm felt like it was dragging on the ground after not having thrown the ball much for years."

Matte was a college quarterback at Ohio State. But, playing for a team noted for its running, Matte tossed only 146 passes in three varsity seasons.

The Colts, from coach Don Shula on down, have expressed confidence in Matte's ability to direct the team in the pressure game.

"Matte has poise," Shula said. "He's at his best under adverse conditions."

Shula said he would not decide until game time whether tackle Bob Vogel and fullback Tony Lorick have recovered sufficiently from injuries to play. Vogel has a sprained ankle and Lorick a pulled thigh muscle.

MATTE talked of the confidence on the veteran Colt team and the increased emphasis of the running game which proved successful against the Rams.

The rushing game will probably predominate the Colt attack, since the Packers finished next to last in rushing defense this year. The expected frozen turf in Green Bay will also make it difficult for pass receivers to turn sharply.

THIS GAME was the Colts' Christmas present from the San Francisco 49ers who tied the Packers last Sunday. The loser on Sunday is still a gainer. The victimized team will travel to Miami to meet the Dallas Cowboys on January 9 in the NFL Runner-Up Bowl.

"It would be the cruellest blow of the year if we lose after coming all this way," said halfback Alex Hawkins. "We came through when things looked darkest and now we've got to do the big job."

The "big job" starts at 11 a.m. over nation-wide television.

CHRISTMAS SPECIAL, PLAY LAKERS TONIGHT

Pistons Irked by Schedule

By DOUG IVES

If you are tired of wrestling with the kids and ripping the wrappings off Christmas gifts, the Lakers would like to invite you out to a basketball game tonight.

As improbable as it seems, the NBA saw fit to schedule a game in the L.A. Sports Arena this evening between the Lakers and Detroit Pistons, who aren't exactly thrilltred about being 2,000 miles from home on Christmas Day.

Some suggested that the way the Pistons are playing

RIDE FOR LONGDEN

PASADENA (UPI) — Johnny Longden, all-time jockey champion, will take a five-mile ride New Year's Day.

The 58-year-old jockey with more than 6,000 victories to his credit signed Friday to ride on top of a float in the famous Tournament of Roses parade.

For Longden, the float's title will have a familiar ring — "Winner's Circle."

At the conclusion of the parade, shortly before noon, Longden will be rushed by police escort to Santa Anita race track to handle his more customary riding chores.

'Mad Dog'

East Backs

STANFORD (AP) — If the East runs through our middle, they'll earn every yard when they meet our linebackers," declared Coach John Ralston of the West after watching Carl McAdams of Oklahoma and Jack (Mad Dog) O'Billyovich of Oregon State in Friday's practice.

However, experts found it hard to understand his reluctance to accept the second spot in support of Santana.

A member of the Spanish team said, "Gibson doesn't want to let the team down and is somewhat nervous of meeting the Australians on grass."

BOTH teams tapered off training on the Davis Cup court which is lightning fast and will suit the Aussies much more than the Spaniards. Australian captain Harry Hopman gave his players a light workout with Emerson showing up particularly well and apparently nearing his peak form.

Spanish manager Jaime Cabannes said "we're ready to go. We realize we are new to challenge round finals and the sooner my boys get on court the better. The big trouble now is keeping the boys from being nervous about the battle against Australia. I wish the Cup was over because we are all getting very tense."

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Veteran campaigner Don Fullmer said Friday he was willing to fight Puerto Rican middleweight Jose Gonzalez "to prove who is really the number one challenger" for champion Dick Tiger's crown.

Lincoln Out of Starting '11, Chargers Still 6½-Pt. Pick

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Coach Lou Saban of the Buffalo Bills voiced no regrets Friday over the loss of Keith Lincoln as a starter for the San Diego Chargers in Sunday's American Football League championship game.

"It's bound to make a difference because he is one of the Chargers' more experienced players," Saban said. "But we will just have to wait and see how much he plays."

Lincoln has been replaced in the starting line-up by rookie fullback Gene Forster, although Charger Coach Sid Gillman indicated that Lincoln may see some action.

The veteran fullback has not been in top shape since he hurt his knee in a game Dec. 12.

Ailing on the Bills' side is center Dave Behrman, who did not make the trip because of muscle spasms in his back. Right guard Al Bemiller is scheduled to take Behrman's place.

"I don't think Behrman's loss will have much of an effect on us," Saban said. "But again, we will just have to wait and see." Saban views Buffalo's chances of victory as "very fine."

"But we never worry about the odds, we just play football," he added.

San Diego is favored to beat the defending champions by 6½ points.

Sabin gave no hint as to what will be done about deactivating the injured Behrman and putting someone else on the squad.

The Chargers go into the game seeking to avenge their 20-7 loss to the Bills in last year's championship game.

In previous games this year, the Chargers defeated Buffalo 34-3 and tied at 20-20 to end the season with a 9-3-1 record. The Bills are 10-3-1.

Jack Kemp, the league's most valuable player, will be at the quarterback spot for the Bills while John Hadl, the league's No. 1 passer, handles the chores for the Chargers.

TIME TO BEAR DOWN

Much of your success in bowling or any other sport will depend upon the amount of concentration you give it. When you are preparing to send your ball down the lane, put everything else out of your mind for a moment.

Some bowlers interpret this to mean one should become a taut bundle of nerves while bearing down, but this isn't so at all. Be relaxed as you begin your approach, but think about the job at hand — not the conversation on the bench, tomorrow's job or even the score of the game.

L.B. Surf Star Wins at Makaha

HONOLULU (UPI) — David Nuuhiwa, 17-year-old Long Beach Surf Club entrant, won the junior men's title in the Makaha International Surfing Championships Friday.

Nuuhiwa excelled over Jock Sutherland, Stanley Park and Ronald Mahelona, three Honolulu surfers. It was the first international win for the Long Beach boy.

California's surfers dominated the meet as defending champion Mike Doyle of La Jolla won his third first place in the competition. Doyle and Miss Danielle Corn of Encinitas edged 10 other teams in tandem scoring.

Pete Peterson of Santa Monica and Miss Marge Giger were second in the tandem event held at Oahu's Makaha Beach. Bob Moore of Redondo Beach and Miss Pat Young, members of the Windansea Surf Club, finished fourth.

Semi-finals and finals in the senior men's individual event are scheduled for Sunday. Doyle will defend his title against many top Honolulu surfers.

Disunity Threatens Spain's Cup Effort

SYDNEY (UPI) — Spanish tennis officials pleaded with a reluctant Juan Gisbert Friday to accept the No. 2 singles post for next week's Davis Cup challenge round against defending champion Australia.

Gisbert has played well in his last three practice sessions, but the Spaniard apparently doesn't think he has a chance against Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle or John Newcombe.

Spain's dilemma is attributed to Luis Arilla's failure to round up into top form. Arilla hasn't had a singles workout for two days and also seems to lack confidence against Australian opponents.

The Spaniards will hold their first workout Saturday on the court where the challenge round will be staged and then name the other player who will team with Manuela Santana in the singles. Indications are it will be Gisbert, with Arilla saved for Tuesday's doubles match.

Australia will not announce its team until Sunday.

Ken Rosewall, a former Aussie Davis Cupper who turned professional, predicted his countrymen would beat Spain 4-1 and said "Spain's only hope, and it's a forlorn one, is to throw Gisbert in as the second singles player."

"I don't think Arilla has enough confidence in his game to play against any of the Australians. Arilla has already conceded defeat for the second singles and if he is used by the Spaniards it gives Australia a two-rubber start without a ball being hit."

GISBERT improved his ground strokes quite considerably in the last few practice sessions and in Friday's workout against Rosewall he showed he is by far in better playing shape than Arilla.

However, experts found it hard to understand his reluctance to accept the second spot in support of Santana.

A member of the Spanish team said "Gisbert doesn't want to let the team down and is somewhat nervous of meeting the Australians on grass."

ROTH teams tapered off training on the Davis Cup court which is lightning fast and will suit the Aussies much more than the Spaniards. Australian captain Harry Hopman gave his players a light workout with Emerson showing up particularly well and apparently nearing his peak form.

Spanish manager Jaime Cabannes said "we're ready to go. We realize we are new to challenge round finals and the sooner my boys get on court the better. The big trouble now is keeping the boys from becoming nervous about the battle against Australia. I wish the Cup was over because we are all getting very tense."

Jim Kekeris, former Missouri football player serving as Roland's agent, declined comment on the bidding report.

Kekeris said no bidding would be considered until after Roland ends his collegiate career against Florida at New Orleans.

LONGEST RIDE FOR LONGDEN

PASADENA (UPI) — Johnny Longden, all-time jockey champion, will take a five-mile ride New Year's Day.

The 58-year-old jockey with more than 6,000 victories to his credit signed Friday to ride on top of a float in the famous Tournament of Roses parade.

For Longden, the float's title will have a familiar ring — "Winner's Circle."

At the conclusion of the parade, shortly before noon, Longden will be rushed by police escort to Santa Anita race track to handle his more customary riding chores.

'Mad Dog' to Bird Dog East Backs

STANFORD (UPI) — If the East runs through our middle, they'll earn every yard when they meet our linebackers," declared Coach John Ralston of the West after watching Carl McAdams of Oklahoma and Jack (Mad Dog) O'Billovich of Oregon State in Friday's practice.

Ralston, Stanford coach, said he believes the West has two of the nation's finest defenders in McAdams and O'Billovich. Each is agile and hits hard.

They'll face such runners as Jim Grabowski of Illinois, Bill Wolski of Notre Dame and Tom Barrington of Ohio State when the East meets the West at Kezar Stadium on Dec. 31 in the 41st Shrine charity game.

Ralston plans a morning workout today and then the two squads meet for the traditional Christmas dinner when each of the 50 players will receive a gold watch presented by game director Bert Jacobs.

Fullmer Anxious to Meet Gonzalez

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Veteran campaigner Don Fullmer said Friday he was willing to fight Puerto Rican middleweight Jose Gonzalez to prove who is really the number one challenger for champion Dick Tiger's crown.

Lincoln Out of Starting '11', Chargers Still 6½-Pt. Pick

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Coach Lou Saban of the Buffalo Bills voiced no regrets Friday over the loss of Keith Lincoln as a starter for the San Diego Chargers in Sunday's American Football League championship game.

"It's bound to make a difference because he is one of the Chargers' more experienced players," Saban said. "But we will just have to wait and see how much he plays."

Lincoln has been replaced in the starting line-up by rookie fullback Gene Foster, although Charger Coach Sid Gilman indicated that Lincoln may see some action.

The veteran fullback has not been in top shape since he hurt his knee in a game Dec. 12.

Ailing on the Bills' side is center Dave Behrman, who did not make the trip because of muscle spasms in his back. Right guard Al Bemiller is scheduled to take Behrman's place.

"I don't think Behrman's loss will have much of an effect on us," Saban said. "But again, we will just have to wait and see." Saban views Buffalo's chances of victory as "very fine."

"But we never worry about the odds, we just play football," he added.

San Diego is favored to beat the defending champions by 6½ points.

Saban gave no hint as to what will be done about deactivating the injured Behrman and putting someone else on the squad.

The Chargers go into the game seeking to avenge their 20-7 loss to the Bills in last year's championship game.

In previous games this year, the Chargers defeated Buffalo 34-3 and tied at 20-20 to end the season with a 9-3-1 record. The Bills are 10-3-1.

Jack Kemp, the league's most valuable player, will be at the quarterback spot for the Bills while John Hadji, the league's No. 1 passer, handles the chores for the Chargers.

Two All-Star Football Classics on TV Today

By United Press International

Nick Rassas, Notre Dame's All-America safety, heads a North defensive unit which has the unenviable task of trying to stop Tulsa's high-scoring pass combination of Billy Anderson to Howard Twilley in today's annual North-South All-Star Shrine football game.

Anderson, who will be the South's starting signal caller and Twilley, who holds every NCAA pass catching record, are two of the reasons why the squad is rated a six-point favorite in this nationally televised (ABC-TV) game at runners, will be key men in the Yankee attack. Mollenkopf called his defense "big and versatile — and they can move."

He said the defensive unit is much better than the one he fielded last year, when the Yankees managed a 10-5 victory on a drizzly day that kept the fans away.

South coach Bill Elias said, "things are going real well. This should be a whale of a game."

He said most of his quarterbacking duties would go to Johnson of Texas A&M, who has deadly accuracy during practice. Billy Fletcher of Memphis State was assigned to be Johnson's backup man and halfback on defense.

L.B. Surf Star Wins at Makaha

HONOLULU (UPI) — David Nuuhiwa, 17-year-old Long Beach Surf Club entrant, won the junior men's title in the Makaha International Surfing Championships Friday.

Nuuhiwa excelled over Jock Sutherland, Stanley Park and Ronald Mahelona, three Honolulu surfers. It was the first international win for the Long Beach boy.

California surfers dominated the meet as defending champion Mike Doyle of La Jolla won his third first place in the competition. Doyle and Miss Danielle Corn of Encinitas edged 10 other teams in tandem scoring.

Pete Peterson of Santa Monica and Miss Marge Giger were second in the tandem event held at Oahu's Makaha Beach. Bob Moore of Redondo Beach and Miss Pat Young, members of the Windansea Surf Club, finished fourth.

Semi-finals and finals in the senior men's individual event are scheduled for Sunday. Doyle will defend his title against many top Honolulu surfers.

Fleeing Youth Shot After N.L.B. Brawl

A 19-year-old Bell Gardens Myers chased Bradshaw and youth was wounded by a private patrol officer Friday afternoon being chased from a fracas at a North Long Beach liquor store.

The wounded youth, Jackson L. Nixon, of 5902 Shull St., was treated at Dominguez Valley Hospital for a wound in his left elbow. Doctors said the slug pierced his arm above the elbow and exited below the joint. The wound was not serious.

Patrolman D. A. Skelton said the shooting occurred shortly after 4 p.m. near Coolidge Street and Gale Avenue when Special Officer Bufford D. Willhite, 57, of 3217 Centralia Ave., Lakewood, fired at Nixon's car.

Officer Skelton said no arrests were made, but a report was filed on the fight and disturbance of the peace.

WILLHITE was chasing Nixon and two companions following a fight at Morgan's Liquor Store, 6597 Atlantic Ave. The special officer told police he thought Nixon and his two companions had been involved in a robbery.

Officer Skelton said the argument started shortly before 4 p.m. when Nixon and his companion, Michael R. Bradshaw, 20, entered the liquor store and attempted to buy a bottle of whisky.

Refused service, the two got into an argument with John Morgan, 61, and his son, William F. Morgan, 38, store operators, and a customer, Harry E. Lobel, 20, of 5408 Steely Ave., Lakewood.

Officer Ron Nelson said a fight started and Lobel was struck several times. The Morgans and a clerk, Ronald M. Myers, 26, managed to break up the battle. Then

As her mother had instructed her, 5-year-old Karen Sauter was holding the white envelope with the Christmas shopping money in it and was hurrying home from the market.

The special officer said he stopped the three boys once on Coolidge Street, but when he attempted to talk to them, they backed away and sped off.

He said he fired one warning shot in the air and a second at the car. The slug struck Nixon's arm, which was outside the window.

Officer Skelton said no arrests were made, but a report was filed on the fight and disturbance of the peace.

New Deal in Weather

The weatherman is afraid some Southlanders won't be too pleased with his Christmas present this year.

His early selection was a nice assortment of mostly sunny skies and clean, crisp air.

Then he took another look at his charts, and the forecast he finally delivered calls for:

Increasing clouds today, with scattered showers and gusty winds at times tonight and Sunday.

Predicted high temperatures for downtown Long Beach this afternoon is 63

Icy Crash Kills Lynwood Wife

A young Lynwood housewife was killed in a head-on collision Friday on an icy Oregon highway as she and her husband drove to spend Christmas with her parents. They were only two miles from their destination when the fatal crash occurred.

Dead is Mrs. Donald Lenz, 21, of 3147 El Segundo Blvd., Oregon State Police said. The couple was headed north near Oakridge when their car collided with another vehicle driven by George Turner, 40, of Seattle, Wash.

Lenz was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in Eugene, 50 miles away, for treatment of cuts. The OSP said Turner was hurt slightly and a passenger in his car escaped injury.

Karen had just cashed a $20 check her mother, Peggy Sauter, 29, had given her. Clerk Albert Menezes, 29, had seen her stuff the $10 bill and two $5 bills in the envelope before leaving.

In her home at 11941 219th St., wasn't far. But hardly had she left the market before two youths, about 13 and 15, accosted her.

One grabbed her left arm, the other snatched the envelope.

ditions along some sections of the central and northern California coasts Friday, with rain and snow falling over much of the state.

Small craft warnings have been hoisted from Monterey northward, and motorists have been warned of hazardous driving conditions in mountain areas to the north and east.

The weatherman's last hopeful word was that most—if not all—of the storm front would turn eastward instead of continuing its collision course with the Southland.

Norwalk Lets Soldiers Know All Students Aren't Vietnams

To many of Uncle Sam's Viet Nam warriors, the term "student" has become synonymous with "demonstrator," but youngsters at Norwalk's Centennial Intermediate School have changed that concept for some soldiers.

Students of teacher Andrew Gray and Susan Lund sent Christmas parcels of cookies and candy, books, cards and other gifts to Army Special Forces troops, Third Marine Division leathernecks and the wounded of all outfits in the Saigon evacuation hospital.

And — perhaps thinking of youngsters their own age and younger — they included a few gifts for GIs to pass on to the inevitable juvenile victims of the dirty jungle war.

The packages were wrapped in gay Christmas paper, crated and flown to the proper officers for distribution among soldiers and Marines.

"A letter from Gray alerted them that the holiday shipment was en route.

Response was quick and emphatic.

"Your letter and its message was greatly appreciated by myself and all my men, each of whom has read it," said Capt. Charles Gregor, of Company A, Fifth Special Forces Group.

"We realize that excess publicity accounts for the impression that young idiots represent more than a very small minority of the American public," the captain said. "Messages such as yours," he added, "are a welcome reassurance to all of us . . . we rely on you and other responsible Americans to educate those who hold our future in their hands." This, he concluded "not the rifle I carry daily, is our most effective weapon against Communism."

A FIREMAN'S CHRISTMAS EVE

Santa Claus wore a helmet and boots as he delivered hundreds of toys and gifts to some of Long Beach's less fortunate youngsters and their families. Off-duty firemen here are loading up food and gift parcels at Palo Verde Avenue and Atherton Drive station Friday. Monthly contributions by firemen and volunteer public assistance have benefited more than 75,000 persons in the project begun 13 years ago by Fireman Murray Cohn.

Award Winners in Light Contest Glowing for Yule

The traditional glitter and glow of Yuletide decorations throughout the city will beckon thousands of Long Beachers this Christmas night.

Among the sparkling sights to see in after-dark pilgrimages are the winning and runnerup displays in the annual Christmas lighting contest sponsored by the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Pictured in the accompanying photos are the top-award winners—Best Santa Claus, 1810 McNab Ave. (Paul and Madeleine Rhine); best tree, 238 Roycroft Ave. (John and Madeleine Paap); and best religious display, 2408

Pasadena Ave. (Joseph Flores and William Moore).

Other award-winning tree displays are at 3870 Rose Ave. (Harold and Loy Stewart), and at 2768 Cedar Ave. (Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Longo).

For other Santa Claus-theme displays drive by 1860 College Circle (Terri and Alice Endriss), and 341 Plenty St. (James and Edna Hutson).

Other outstanding religious-theme displays are located throughout the city, with the contest runnerup scene at 5419 Mezzanine Way (Harry and Maybelle Burgess).

Icy Crash Kills Lynwood Wife

A young Lynwood housewife was killed in a head-on collision Friday on an icy Oregon highway as she and her husband drove to spend Christmas with her parents. They were only two miles from their destination when the fatal crash occurred.

Dead is Mrs. Donald Lenz, 21, of 3147 El Segundo Blvd., Oregon State Police said. The couple was headed north near Oakridge when their car collided with another vehicle driven by George Turner, 40, of Seattle, Wash.

Lenz was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in Eugene, 50 miles away, for treatment of cuts. The OSP said Turner was hurt slightly and a passenger in his car escaped injury.

THE CRASH apparently was caused by ice on the highway, police said. An ambulance sent to the scene had to be equipped with chains.

In Long Beach-area collisions, an Oxnard woman and an El Toro Marine died Friday and a California Highway patrolman was injured.

John R. Thompson, 19, died instantly when his car slammed into a bridge support on the Newport Freeway at 17th Street in Santa Ana. Police suffered face cuts and a sprained neck when his car was struck from the rear by another auto on the Long Beach Freeway south of Del Amo Boulevard.

Officer George Yoder said he was pursuing a suspected drunken driver when a car driven by Leo J. Augustine, 43, of 12302 Casper St., Garden Grove, changed lanes and hit the rear of the patrol car.

Augustine received a serious head cut, and his wife, Catherine, 41, sustained a double arm fracture and a broken rib. Both were treated at Dominguez Valley Hospital, Compton.

of fighting men in Southeast Asia.

Girls whipped up the cookies and candy in home economics classes and boys packed the treats and wrote notes of appreciation to the combat-weary recipients. Everyone had a part in the job.

And — perhaps thinking of youngsters their own age and younger — they included a few gifts for GIs to pass on to the inevitable juvenile victims of the dirty jungle war.

The packages were wrapped in gay Christmas paper, crated and flown to the proper officers for distribution among soldiers and Marines. A letter from Gray alerted them that the holiday shipment was en route.

Fleeing Youth Shot After N.L.B. Brawl

A 19-year-old Bell Gardens Myers chased Bradshaw and Nixon out of the store where they were joined by Marlin Buffington, 17, of the Shull Street address.

The wounded youth, Jackson L. Nixon, of 5902 Shull St., was treated at Dominguez Valley Hospital for a wound in his left elbow. Doctors said the slug pierced his arm above the elbow and exited below the joint. The wound was not serious.

Patrolman D. A. Skelton said the shooting occurred shortly after 4 p.m. near Coolidge Street and Gale Avenue when Special Officer Bufford D. Willhite, 57, of 3217 Centralia Ave., Lakewood, fired at Nixon's car.

Willhite was chasing Nixon and two companions following a fight at Morgan's Liquor Store, 6597 Atlantic Ave. The special officer told police he thought Nixon and his two companions had been involved in a robbery.

Officer Skelton said no arrests were made, but a report was filed on the fight and disturbance of the peace.

KAREN, $20

2 'Daring' Punks Rob Child, 5

As her mother had instructed her, 5-year-old Karen Sauter was holding the white envelope with the Christmas shopping money in it and was hurrying home from the market.

Karen had just cashed a $20 check her mother, Peggy Sauter, 29, had given her. Clerk Albert Menezes, 29, had seen her stuff the $10 bill and two $5 bills in the envelope before leaving.

Karen's home at 11941 219th St. wasn't far. But hardly had she left the market before two youths, about 13 and 15 accosted her.

One grabbed her left arm, the other snatched the envelope.

New Deal in Weather

The weatherman is afraid some Southlanders won't be too pleased with his Christmas present this year.

His early selection was a nice assortment of mostly sunny skies and clean, crisp air.

Then he took another look at his charts, and the forecast he finally delivered calls for:

Increasing clouds today, with scattered showers and gusty winds at times tonight and Sunday.

Predicted high temperatures for downtown Long Beach this afternoon is 63 degrees. Low predicted for tonight is 48.

The storm front moving southward towards this area created near gale conditions along some sections of the central and northern California coasts Friday, with rain and snow falling over much of the state.

Small craft warnings have been hoisted from Monterey northward, and motorists have been warned of hazardous driving conditions in mountain areas to the north and east.

The weatherman's last hopeful word was that most—if not all—of the storm front would turn eastward instead of continuing its collision course with the Southland.

Bandit Takes $100 at Gasoline Station

A Santa Ana gas station was robbed of about $100 Friday afternoon by an armed bandit who forced the attendant to lie on the floor after tying his hands and feet.

Police said the attendant, Carl Smith, 36, was not harmed in the holdup at the Powertone Gas Station at 2102 S. Main St. at 3:40 p.m.

Officer Ron Nelson said a fight started and Lobel was struck several times. The Morgans and a clerk, Ronald M. Myers, 26, managed to break up the battle. Then

We made our second million a little early this year

The two-millionth Independent, Press-Telegram classified ad this year was published on Sunday, December 5, six days earlier than in 1964.

What does that prove? It proves that a lot of people use a lot of I.P-T classified ads to solve a lot of personal and business problems.

And it proves they find I.P-T classified ads easy, effective, and economical to use because more people are using more I.P-T classified ads every year.

It also proves a lot of people read I.P-T classified ads because every classified success story takes both an advertiser and a reader to make the plot complete.

Whether you are a businessman or a homemaker, whether you have something to sell or trade or rent or find, whether you want to hire someone or hire out, let an inexpensive I.P-T classified ad put you on the road to success.

And make it a habit to read the I.P-T classified ads every day. You have already had more than two million chances this year to boost your budget, your income, and your standard of living through I.P-T classified ads.
